FURTHER INFORMATION RELATING TO THIS SEARCH MATTER:

Place of discovery: near a car park of the federal motorway A 6 near St Leon Rot (Rhein Neckar district), Baden-Württemberg

At the request of Heidelberg public prosecutor's office, Freiburg Institute of Forensic Medicine reconstructed the woman's face in 2009.

In 2011, isotope analysis of the dead woman's bones, teeth and hair provided information about her place of origin and/or last whereabouts in her lifetime.

According to the findings of these isotopic analyses, the woman might possibly

- have changed her place of residence and/or whereabouts several times, might have lived in the Benelux countries (Luxembourg, Belgium, the Netherlands) for quite some time
- might have stayed in the United Kingdom during the last ten months of her life.
- The victim's blood group is A.
